

JUDY BRADT

Judy Bradt is one of North American's top champions for companies taking their first steps in government contracts, and a trusted advisor on growing your profit with the world's biggest buyer. Since 1988, she has counselled more than 6000 clients who credit her advice for winning more than $300 million in government business.

As Principal of Summit Insight in Washington DC, Judy's an expert author, speaker and consultant who specializes in giving business owners the insight they need to win government contracts. She's been covered by national media including Fortune Small Business, ABC Radio, CTV Television, the Financial Post, Canadian Business, and Entrepreneur Magazine.

"My clients work hard," she explains. "In return, they get my personal guidance on the issues that are critical to achieving their government contracting goals."

Prior to founding Summit Insight, Judy was Trade Commissioner at the Canadian Embassy in Washington for 15 years, specializing in the U.S. federal market. She is also a pilot and a rock-climbing instructor, so no matter how steep the climb for your business, she can take you all the way. For Judy Bradt and her clients, the sky is no limit!
