

3rd European GeoInformation Symposium

Invitation to submit abstracts for a speaking role for specific sessions

AFCEA Europe is pleased to officially launch the call for abstracts for the 3rd European GeoInformation Symposium and Exposition on 26 - 27 February 2019 at the beautiful NHow Hotel in Berlin, Germany. In this letter, you can read about the subjects and the process of submitting an abstract of a speaker for consideration to join the conference programme.

We are currently considering abstracts from industry for the main stage for both days of the conference, 26 and 27 February 2019. The nominated speakers should be of a high level. Speakers will be chosen according to their level (higher ranking speakers will have priority), their speaking abilities and presence, the content of their proposed abstract and relevance to the session theme and overall conference theme.

You can apply to have your speaker considered for all panel sessions.

Industry can still submit an abstract for review ASAP.

All submitters will receive a reply regarding the acceptance or refusal of the abstract. You may be contacted to join the alternate speaker list as well.

Should your speaker cancel or no longer be available to attend the conference after acceptance, you may be offered the chance to send a replacement speaker if they are of equal or higher level than the selected speaker. Final approval of the replacement is at the discretion of the organisers. If your replacement is not of an equal or higher level, you may forfeit your speaking role. The organisers will then select an alternate speaker that ranked high in the call for abstracts but was not selected.

The number of speaking roles is limited.

Potential content of the entire programme including the panel session can be viewed in the programme overview. Once you have reviewed the session descriptions, you are welcome to submit an abstract for the session(s) 1 - 3, of your choice.

Submit an abstract now!
