

Melanie Corcoran is the Chief Technology Officer for Ursa Space Systems (Ursa). Prior to joining full-time, Melanie ran a consulting company that supported Ursa and other growing, next-gen intelligence and AI companies. She has over 20 years of experience driving technology solutions, with a focus on advanced algorithms, analytics, and operationalizing solutions that enable commercial and government customers to realize decision advantage.