

Dr. Edward Sobiesk

Professor of Computer and Cyber Science
Army Cyber Institute

Dr. Edward Sobiesk is a Professor of Computer and Cyber Science who is jointly appointed to the Army Cyber Institute (ACI) and the Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science at the United States Military Academy. Dr. Sobiesk spent 28 years in the U.S. Army, retiring as a colonel. He has almost two decades of experience as an educator, leader, and practitioner within the Cyber Domain. He has taught 17 different computer science and information technology courses and has directed three different computing programs at West Point; he has run a 200 person computer support directorate; and he has over 30 invited or refereed academic publications. Dr. Sobiesk holds a Ph.D. in Computer and Information Sciences from the University of Minnesota. His research interests include online privacy and usable security, cybersecurity education, and emerging technologies.