

Alissa W. L. Wilson

Alissa Wilson is a strategic intelligence consultant at Booz Allen Hamilton. After pursuing her passion of studying aviation flight science as an undergrad, 9/11 occurred. After reassessing future career opportunities, Alissa switched her focus to a business degree. After a successful internship with Booz Allen's International Aviation and Space Team, Alissa was offered an opportunity to transfer her skillset to support the Intelligence Community and never looked back. Her passion for analytics, problem solving, and country came together in a way she'd never imagined. After supporting various departments and agencies across the Intelligence Community for more than 15 years, Alissa applied what she had learned and received a graduate certificate in Intelligence Analysis from the University of Maryland.
