

Senior Master Sergeant Shea Hazel, J.D., is the Individual Mobilization Augmentee (IMA) to Manager, Unit Support to Combat and Space Forces, Headquarters Air Force Reserve Command (HQ AFRC) A2 Intelligence Surveillance and Reconnaissance (ISR), Robins AFB, Georgia.

Shea is from Boston, Massachusetts and graduated UMass Law in May 2021. During law school, Shea interned with the Social Security Administration's Office of General Counsel, the Washington Council of Lawyers, and an Estate Planning Law Office. Shea's achievements were recognized by the Dean's Service Award, the Leader for Justice Award, the Delta Theta Phi Law Fraternity Award, and the President's Volunteer Award from her studies of international law at the University of Limerick, Limerick Ireland.

In addition to her juris doctorate, Shea has degrees in Russian, Finance, Legal Studies, Organizational Transformation, and Intelligence.

Shea has served in the United States Air Force Reserve for 20 years. In the service, Shea has concentrated on intelligence roles working with and supporting USCENTCOM, USSPACECOM, and the other intelligence agencies. In her civilian career, Shea has been a senior national security policy advisor, providing executive management consulting to global collaboration, resource planning, mission management strategies, and IC/DoD/NSG/ASG integration efforts.

As an active member of the Emerging Professionals in the Intelligence Community Committee, Shea presented to the INSA Intelligence Committee the impacts of COVID-19 on the IC mission and the need for a more agile and forward leaning community, especially in regards to the IC's workforce and technical working environment.

Current as of October 2021