

Currently positioned at PwC UK, Robert bridges the gap between threat intelligence and incident response and uses his skills to uncover and counter some of the most complex advanced persistent threats ever seen. As well as being a keen supporter of AFCEA, he also plays a crucial role in promoting careers in cyber security throughout the UK, both assessing and mentoring the next generation of professionals. More information about Robert and his work can be found over on Twitter here [<https://twitter.com/MrThreatFinder>] or LinkedIn [<https://www.linkedin.com/in/MrThreatFinder>].