

David Shahoulian – BIO

David Shahoulian

David serves as Intel's Director of Workforce Policy and Government Relations. In this position, he works closely with Human Resources, Legal, and Global Mobility teams on a range of workforce policy issues. He also leads Intel's federal advocacy efforts related to education and workforce development, labor and employment law, employee benefits, immigration policy.

David came to Intel after 15 years of federal government service. Most recently, David served as the Assistant Secretary for Border and Immigration Policy at the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). He also previously served at DHS as Deputy General Counsel from 2014 to 2017. In between his stints at DHS, David served in the U.S. House of Representatives as Chief Counsel to the Immigration Subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee.

Before joining the federal government, David practiced law in Miami, Florida at Holland & Knight, where he was a member of the White Collar and Immigration practices. He has degrees from Yale Law School, the University of Southern California, and Florida State University.